Tercentenary Celebration, Class Day, and Two Anniversaries Are Planned

The cast of characters for all the parts in the Shakespeare pageant at the State Normal school was announced today by the committee. This promises to be the greatest affair ever staged by home talent in Maryville.

It will be given in Normal park at the left of the entrance. This is considered to be an ideal place for the setting. The pageant will begin at 10 o'clock on Monday, June 12, and will be the opening event of a great week.

Class Day, Tuesday; commencement, Wednesday; and the great civic celebration of the seventieth anniversary of the sale of Maryville's first town lot, Thursday, will be the offering for the week.

Concerning the pageant, it is said that every effort will be made to make it a fitting celebration in Maryville of the tercentenary of the great poet's death.

STUPENDOUS SCENES

DESCRIPTION OF "BATTLE CRY OF PEACE" IN SUPERLATIVES.

MUCH ARGUMENT ABOUT IT

But Whether One Believes It Distorted Propaganda or Not, Marvelous Film Work Is Undenied.

A week from last night and tonight the greatest motion picture ever filmed will be shown at the Empire theatre. Manager Albert Kuchs has obtained the wonderful show for Monday and Tuesday, May 22 and 23. There will be an afternoon matinee Tuesday.

More controversy has raged around the showing of the film than ever was created by "The Birth of a Nation." This is due to the fact that many believe that the spectacle is distorted and that the United States is not so defenseless as to make such horrible things possible.

It is characterized as "A call to arms against war" by the author, J. J. Stuart Blackton. It is supposed to portray what would happen if any first-class military power should attack the United States. Certain it is that the drama is a stupendous spectacle in every sense of the word, whether one believes or not that it is being sent out by the muniton and war supply interests to create sentiment for "preparedness" on a large scale.

The latter part of the film is full of horror and tragedy. Concerning the performance, the Boston Transcript says:

How It Impressed Boston

A spectator at a moving picture is a callous sort. He has had sudden death and destruction served up to him too often to have it ruffle his calm exterior. Besides, he knows all this is essential to any film worth the price of admission.

Thus in general he is able to sit unmoved, while the dramatis personae struggle in the midst of fire, or flood, or famine. It is not because he is hard hearted. It is because there has become firmly ingrained in him the belief that somewhere in the last reel there will be tucked away a happy ending.

Be it said to the credit of "The Battle Cry of Peace" produced last night at the Majestic, that everyone in the crowded house waited for the happy ending with strained attention. They read with general excitement the moral of unpreparedness the film is supposed to teach.

And their attention changed to horror when the happy ending, after hovering about for some time as a remote possibility, vanished beneath the ruins of the city of New York.

The young American in endeavoring to save his sweetheart from the assaults of a brutal officer, is bayoneted. The mother having shot her younger sister and herself, the girl goes raving mad. There are harrowing sights in some of the scenes, for the acting is very realistic. But in the way of photography it surpasses anything ever witnessed in Boston. The terrible effect of bombs thrown from aeroplanes, exploding in the streets, scattering death and destruction, is vividly portrayed.

In the supposed naval encounter off Sandy Hook, the immense battleships are seen to list and sink and smaller craft are blown to atoms by a torpedo.

Another scene shows a head-on collision between two railroad trains and the effect of exploding shells on buildings and the firing of the huge disappearing guns in the coast defenses, are wonderfully interesting. It is a masterpiece in photography from beginning to end and displays remarkable ingenuity in the groupings and the working out of the various events. Very little in the way of text is shown on the screen, so continuous is the thread of the narrative maintained by the films.

Charles Richman is the hero and he is excellent in the exciting situations as well as in portraying the various and many emotions which he is called upon to express. Others were Louise Beaudet, Norma Talmage, Harold Hubert, Lucille Hammill, and in the impersonation of historical and allegorical characters were Lionel Braham, Thais Lawton, E. M. Holland, Joseph Kilgour, W. J. Ferguson and William Humphrey.

Mrs. D. M. Montgomery, who has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. Catherine Wood, during the last month, left this morning for her home in Pueblo, Colo.

DOUBLE R. R. GUARD

ALL LINES ALONG MEXICAN BORDER IN DANGER

PURSUERS RETURN SOON

2,000 Carranzistas Headed Toward Sibley's Forces Causes Uneasiness—Appeals From Arizona

Special to the Democrat-Forum.

El Paso, May 16.—Military guards along American railway lines near the border were doubled today, following the reports of the wreck near Fort Hancock in which three persons were injured. Mexicans are accused of wrecking the train.

It is rumored that Langhorne and Sibley will soon head back for the border. Rumors of a skirmish between their forces and the raiders have no official confirmation. The Carranza cavalry sent by Obregon to patrol the border have been sigthed.

Two Mexicans have been arrested in connection with the fire at Fort Bliss.

Carranzistas Near Sibley.

Marathon, May 16.—Two thousand Carranzistas are reported to be marching toward the district south of the border in which Colonel Sibley's cavalry is searching for the raiders who captured Deemer and Payne.

BRUMBAUGH VS. PENROSE

Pennsylvania Is Selecting Candidates Today for Republican National Convention

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—United States Senator Boies Penrose and Governor Martin G. Brumbaugh today joined battle in the primary election which will result in selecting seventy-six delegates to the Republican National Convention at Chicago. There is little interest in the Democratic contests.

The Brumbaugh candidates for delegates are for Theodore Roosevelt, after Mr. Brumbaugh himself; while the Penrose men support Philander C. Knox as the state "favorite son" and claim to preserve an "open mind" toward Mr. Roosevelt and all other candidates for the G. O. P. nomination at Chicago.

In general, however, a victory for the Brumbaugh faction would be taken as a victory for the colonel.

Senator Penrose recently announced that he expected to see at least sixty-five of the seventy-six delegates go to Chicago unpledged and that he expected himself to head the delegation.

Mr. Knox is an unopposed candidate in the Republican primaries today for United States senator.

THINKS IT IS SUNDAY

ALLEN BURKS REGAINS CONSCIOUSNESS TODAY

Remembers Nothing Since He Stooped to Pick Up Horseshoe in Pasture—Recovering Nicely

Allen Burks, who was struck by lightning Saturday morning about 8 o'clock at his home near Pickering and has since been in a comatose condition, regained consciousness this morning.

At the time he was struck his father, Will Burks, did not know just where the boy was. This morning Allen said he was walking in the pasture toward the house when he saw a horseshoe and stooped over to pick it up and that is the last he remembers.

Saturday morning one of his sisters looked out and saw Allen coming toward the house seemingly in great distress. She called her father and he asked the boy if he had been struck by lightning but Allen was too weak to say anything else and immediately became unconscious.

Today he thinks is Sunday. His hearing is not yet normal, but he is feeling very well. There are no burns on his body.

ADOLPH LIPPMAN STARTS UNUSUAL CONSTRUCTION WORK

Each Building Fireproof, One Brick and Other Frame—Will Compare Costs and May Erect More

Construction has been begun by Adolph Lippman of two houses which will be rather unusual in the line of building operations in Maryville. Every effort will be made throughout to make both structures as completely fireproof as possible.

One will be built of fire-resisting materials, that is, brick and hollow building tile, both in the exterior and partition walls. The other building will be the usual frame dwelling. The general plans except for the material will be identical in the two houses.

A comparison of the relative costs of the two methods of construction will determine the building of a row of houses which are contemplated by Mr. Lippman on the lots on Oak street between North and Park avenues a block north of the Wabash railroad and two blocks east of Main street.

Frank Reynolds has the contract for the brick work. The other contracts have not been made as the plans and specifications are not completely finished.

ROSENDALE ROAD CHANGE

Highway Will Go Parallel to Railroad Instead of River From Mile North of Town

The new road which will come parallel to the railroad track from a mile north of town instead of along the river was assured last Thursday, when $200 was raised by subscription to purchase the right-of-way.

Some of the advantages given by the new road are that it will be away from the river and removed from danger of the river banks caving in. It will be on higher ground and passable at all times of the year. It insures the Saints' highway and the Inter-County-Seat road over its course.—Rosendale Signal.

TWO MORE TRACK MEETS

Graham and Burlington Junction Will Entertain Crowds Friday and Saturday

Two rural track meets will be held this week, one at Graham Friday and the other at Burlington Junction Saturday. Graham is inviting Hughes township only. Most of the prizes for the contests were given by the merchants.

Mrs. J. T. Renfro and baby, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ditto, east of Maryville, left for their home in Hopkins today.

Uncle Joe Cannon Tells of Some Changes In Forty-four Years.

SHOWS AGE IS NO HANDICAP.

Says Uncle Sam Is Two and One-half Times Bigger Than When He Broke Into Congress—Has Retained Subtleness Despite His Eighty Years.

Washington.—Reclining on the sofa in his office just off the chamber of the house of representatives, his well known cigar at the proper angle in his mouth, Uncle Joe Cannon, who recently celebrated his eightieth birthday, told a correspondent on that occasion of some of the changes which have occurred in the United States during the forty-four years he has been in public life, forty of which have been spent in congress.

Taking his cigar out of his mouth, Uncle Joe squinted at the end of it a moment, and then, replacing it most carefully at its accustomed angle, he said:

"I suppose you want to know something about the changes which have taken place since I first entered congress back in 1873. Why, my boy, the changes have been like those of an infant growing into a stalwart man or a sapling into a tree.

"Uncle Sam is two and a half times as big as he was when I broke into congress. I mean by that in physical stature as measured by population. In other ways the country has multiplied four, five and even ten times.

"We had thirty-seven states and less than 40,000,000 population when I came to congress. We now have forty-eight states and 100,000,000 population at home, with ten or fifteen millions more in Hawaii, Porto Rico and the Philippines. Our total wealth then was given at $24,000,000,000, gold basis, or $30,000,000,000 currency, but now it is $187,000,000,000, without any distinction as to the unit of measure.

"This enormous wealth is not in Wall street or within a thousand miles of it. It is not gathered into banks or trust companies, but is scattered over the broad land—the prairies, the plains and the mountains as well as in the factories and commercial centers. In fact, there is more of this wealth west of the Mississippi river than in New York and New England combined. So you can see that Uncle Sam has grown, and it has been something of a job for congress to keep up with the development of the country."

"What do you think has been congress' most farreaching act during this period?"

"I would hardly call it an act. I would call it a discovery," replied Uncle Joe. "It was the discovery of the general welfare clause of the constitution. We used to have long constitutional arguments against any kind of internal improvements by the federal government, but now we just read the general welfare clause of that old document and appropriate money for any scheme that may be proposed.

"This change of sentiment is pretty general, but it is marked in the delegations from the south."

The correspondent met with this answer when he mentioned legislation: "I am not going to discuss politics."

Getting up from the couch, he stretched his arms, and then, just to show he is eighty years young, Uncle Joe kicked as high as his chin.

"Can you do that, young man?" he asked. And then in reply he said:

"No, and there aren't ten other men in the house who can."

The correspondent expressed the belief that when a person reached the fourscore milestone it was time to take it easy, and Uncle Joe replied:

"Well, I do take it easy. I'm entitled to it, am I not? I have things just about as fine as any man could wish. I have lots of friends, no enemies that I know of, and lots of hope and ambition."

Although he has been mixed up in every great political fight since the election of Lincoln in 1860, Uncle Joe declined to discuss politics in the concrete.

"It would be hardly fitting," he said. "People insist I am a partisan. I am a Republican, but this isn't a time for me to talk party politics. My friends are in all of the parties."

COACH BECKER SECURES REST FOR BALL TEAM

BATTLE AT 8 TONIGHT

Juniors Deny Breach of Honor But Seniors Seethe When Billboard Is Smeared

Just when it seemed that war at its worst would break over the students of the Maryville high school, Coach Becker stepped in as a peace mediator No. 2 and another white flag was hoisted for twenty-four more hours.

The cause of the latest protocol was for the purpose of permitting the members of the baseball team to get some sleep and rest last night in preparation for the game with Savannah high school, which is being played at Fed Park this afternoon. Many of the team were up all night Sunday night

The feelings of the juniors were very much hurt by the charges of the seniors that they had broken faith by tearing down the 1916 pennant. They assert that it was due to a misunderstanding of the provisions of the truce. To show that they were willing to do the square thing, a new agreement was made that the seniors have the right to replace their pennant on the front of Dr. H. S. Rowlett's office at 1 o'clock today, same to remain unmolested until 8 o'clock tonight, when the truce is off.

Feeling continues to get higher. The town was overrun with students last night, no one starting anything but all waiting for something to turn up. The seniors were made more angry this morning upon arising and finding their beloved signboard at the corner of First and Main streets smeared with green paint.

The candidates for the cap and gown insist that this is another breach of trust and honor and that no truce could mean that they were to sit by and watch the juniors tear everything down. The juniors merely smile and point to the fact that no 1916 pennants are up and that the one thing which could not torn down is defaced.

Kansas City Stock Yards, May 16, 1916.—Light receipts of cattle after Monday last week turned the market upward, and sales Thursday were 25c to 40c higher than Monday on killing grades. Good grades of stock steers and feeders held up steady, but breeding cattle declined to 10c to 25c, and are materially lower than a few weeks ago. The week closed with killers empty handed, and ready for liberal run this week.

Receipts today were moderate at 9,600 head, and the market was a fast one, strong to 15c higher than close of last week, 30c to 50c above a week ago on killing cattle, stockers and feeders firm. Prime heavy native steers sold at $9.50 to $9.65, good natives $9 and upward, choice pulp steers $9.25 to $9.50, several strings within that range, and common pulpeers down to $8.80, fed cattle from the Panhandle country at $8.70 to $9.35. Steer prices averaged highest of the year today.

Cows and heifers do not show quite as much strength as steers, but best cows sell up to $8.25, heifers $9.50, bulls $7.50. Stockers and feeders held steady, sales up to $8.50. A string of 3-year-old steers was bought in the Panhandle last week at $64 a head, from which two cars of the tails were cut out and were on the market here today, 861 lbs. average, at $8.50, or over $75 gross, making a good shipping profit. Hogs made gains at the end of last week, and the market is 10c to 15c higher today. Receipts 13,000 head. Top was $10.05, bulk, $9.80 to $10.00.

Packers have been the principal buyers during the last week, and they had unusually good orders for all grades and weights, light weights making some gains on the others during the week, top on lights today $9.95. Two cars of Idaho hogs are here today, pigs at $9.35, light hogs $9.85. Receipts here last week were 49,000 head, 5,000 less than previous week, and the total supply at present is barely sufficient to fill the demand for fresh pork, which points to the good position sellers hold.

Sheep and lambs are advancing regularly, a gain of 10c to 25c today, following good gains last week, goats participating. Receipts today are 8,100 head. Winter fed western lambs brought $12.10 today, clippers $10.25, fat goats weighing 83 lbs., $6.10, Angora brushers $5.65, all new high records. Spring lambs are quotable up to $12, clipped Texas wethers would bring $8.50 or better, Texas and Arizona clipped ewes around $8.25. About 11,000 goats were included last week and 3,000 are here today. Mexican slick haired brusher goats sell at $3.75 to $4.50. Goat receipts will be liberal another week or two, and now is a good time to buy.

COURAGE WINS HER

Stand Made by Suffragists Impresses Pearl White.

ONCE SCORNED THEIR FIGHT.

Her Views Changed When She Saw How Bravely the Women Marched In a Parade In New York Despite a Cold, Miserable Day.

New York.—"You see, it was like this," said Miss Pearl White, curling her slender figure up on a corner of her couch. "I was one of those who found suffragettes funny. They handed me a laugh many a time just because I thought they were pulling a speech off to get themselves heard. But I tell you I didn't think that after their October parade. It was on an awfully cold, mean day, if you recall it, and the way those women came up the avenue beating against the wind, with their white dresses on, fairly gave one a thrill.

There they stood, hour after hour, waiting to get into line, and there weren't six of them that 'beat it for home,' I'll make my guess.

"I like to see women who dare to do things. There are hundreds of women working for their living, and most of them don't dare say what they think. But those suffragettes, they've got their courage right with them, all the time," went on the plucky, daredevil "movie" star.

She it was who took up the dare when some one said no girl could be a steeplejack, and on April 15, dressed in the part of a sign painter in overalls and cap on which "Votes For Women" gleamed across the visor, Miss White let herself down an electric sign twenty-two stories above Broadway.

Miss White is as lithe as a panther. She can twist her pliant figure into more curves than most women. Half Italian and half Irish, she comes from Missouri, and so she adds keenness to her Celt and Latin traits. "I pay taxes," said she thoughtfully. "Why shouldn't I say something about what is to be done with my tax money? I pay income tax, too, just as if I were a man. I earn money too. In my profession a woman star earns more than a man, yet I have nothing to say about the income tax law nor about any other law. Why shouldn't I vote? Women are doing every kind of work men do, and over in Europe they are suffering as much as men suffer. If war should come to America they would suffer here. I want to vote for president of this country, for I know who I think ought to govern us. But I shan't have anything to say about the president. I'll have to abide by the decision of men, who may not care half as much as I care."

WIND IMPRISONS WOMAN.

Locked In Closet and Near Collapse When Rescued.

Bridgeville, Del.—Imprisoned in a closet by the wind slamming a door fast, Mrs. Mollie Cordery, who lives near Bridgeville, had a narrow escape from death and when discovered was nearly overcome by the shock.

Mrs. Cordery was cleaning the attic, and while she was looking in an old closet a gust of wind slammed the door and locked it from the outside. There was no one but herself in the house, and it was nearly an hour before Mrs. Cordery's screams happened to be heard by a gang of men who were repairing the road. With all the doors locked downstairs, Harley Rickards climbed to the second floor and got through by a window. When Mrs. Cordery was found she was in a pitiable state. She is still seriously ill from the shock.

Sentences Himself to Jail.

Visalia, Cal.—Ernest Stevenson, a Visalia laborer, sentenced himself to a year in the county jail in Judge Knox's court after pleading guilty to a charge of drunkenness. The verdict was set aside by the judge as excessive. In passing sentence on himself after the judge had asked him to do so Stevenson said treatment in hospital did no good and perhaps he could "sober up right" in a year.

Tea at Elks Club
Arts and Crafts Entertain

One of the most interesting and enjoyable teas of the season was given by the members of the Arts and Crafts department of the Twentieth Century club at the Elks club yesterday afternoon. The parlors were artistically decorated with green and white, bridal wreath being used extensively. The display of the year's work by the department was arranged in these rooms. The color scheme of green and white was also exploited in the decorations in the tea room. Mrs. Delmar Coffman and Mrs. W. J. Osburn presided at the table, assisted by Mrs. Roy Collins and Mrs. LeGrand Gann. Mrs. W. H. Crawford gave a short resume of the year's work of the department.

Mrs. D. J. Tomas on behalf of the members of the Arts and Crafts presented Mrs. Jessie Douglas with a purse for her work as instructor. Mrs. W. H. Crawford then presented Mrs. M. A. Peery with a handsome ivory mirror in remembrance of her work as assistant instructor. About seventy-five ladies called during the afternoon.

NEWS FROM ALL Northwest Missouri

The Skidmore hog cholera serum plant has recently added a new fireproof building to their equipment. The plant is now modern in every way. It has an ice storage capacity of twenty tons and the contract for the year's supply was recently given to the Burlington Junction Ice Company.

The Tribune, official paper of Worth county, printed the county's financial statement last week, covering fifteen columns of space. It shows the total county revenue received during the year, closing April 30, to have been $24,852.17; expenditures, $22,595,47; and $13,284.96 in warrants outstanding.

In an attempt to shoot a chicken-stealing crow, Glen Wright, of Sheridan, shot himself in the foot. While trying to come near the bird he accidently pulled the trigger and the bullet went through the foot near the toes.

The people of Andrew county have set apart May 25 as good roads day, and will concentrate their work on that part of the Jefferson highway which crosses that county.

And now Richmond is in a hitch-rack controversy. The county court ordered that the hitchracks remain around the court house square and the city council ordered them removed On Saturday night, April 6, between dark and midnight, the hitchracks vanished. Even the Missourian reserves comment until the county court takes action.

"Old Chip," the Rayville correspondent of the Richmond Missourian, has filled the position for 34 years "and in that time has made more people laugh and fewer people cry than any man who ever wrote for a Ray county paper," says an old resident of Richmond.

At the Tri-State track meet at Tarkio, Greenfield and College Springs, Iowa, tied for first place with 16 points each. Other schools won points as follows: Maitland, Mo., 13; Falls City, Nebr., 13; Blanchard, Iowa, 6; Breckenridge, Mo., 3; Clearfield, Iowa, 1; Farragut, Iowa, 10; Mound City, Mo., 4; Nebraska City, Nebr., 8; Pawnee City, Nebr., 1, and Rock Port, Mo., 8. In the declamatory contests Iowa carried off most of the honors.

The Breckenridge Bulletin reports that farmers north of that city in the Shoal Creek neighborhood are much alarmed over the presence of a strange wild animal, which is described as being "about three or four feet long, of a light fawn color, with long tail and many dangerous looking claws as shown by tracks along the creek. One farmer saw the beast leaving his hen house the other morning, where it had eaten several of his hens."

The Lathrop Optimist feels a little pessimistic over a recent discovery it made when a copy of the Lathrop Monitor of the year 1871 came to light. In this old paper it was found that 28 Lathrop merchants carried display advertising, while in the current issue of the Optimist there were but 13 display ads from local merchants. The Optimist says it's up to the merchants to explain this state of affairs.

Grant City is one of the first places this year to announce a big celebration of July Fourth. The commercial club of that city promises to spend $2,500 for amusements.

Miss Hattie D. Sutton, a woman farmer near Rock Port, has corn up in rows that can be seen half a mile away, says the Atchison County Mail. Besides that Miss Sutton has a herd of fine cows, a lotful of fat hogs and hens enough to lay $10 worth of eggs a week. And on top of all that, the thing that impressed the newspaper man who sad all these things was a check for more than a thousand dollars which a stock buyer handed Miss Sutton for hogs already shipped. Think of being a newspaper man and having to witness such sights!

To walk 6,024 miles to get an education is some record—and for a girl at that—but that is just what Miss Myrtle Page, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Page, living two and a half miles from Richmond, has done in the last six years. And in all that time she has not missed a day nor been tardy one minute. The Richmond Missourian adds that this does not count the millions of steps she has taken during that time in helping with the work about home, for she is the kind of girl that excels at home as well as at school.

The city council of Lathrop has passed an ordinance permitting autos to be parked in the middle of the business street, crosswise of the street, and to remain there without their lights burning while the city lights are on.

Harrison county's financial statement published last week in the Bethany Republican shows the total county revenue receipts of the year to have been $77,389.81, expenditures $67,102.01, outstanding warrants $5.50 and balance in treasury $9,935.30.

The folks over at Martinsville in Harrison county have devised a way whereby the men can fish on Sunday and still hold up their heads in church After church and Sunday school, last week, a large party went to a local pond, where the men fished while the women gathered bouquets of wood flowers which they gave to the sick folks and shut-ins of the town and community, numbering twenty-five or thirty.

The Richmond Missourian prints a remarkable historical sketch of "the greatest Ray Countyan in history, Colonel A. W. Doniphan." The state of Missouri is soon to erect at Richmond

FLYING REAL FACTOR SOON

Aeroplanes for Mails Are to Be Given Thorough Trial—One in Massachusetts and Seven in Alaska

That the aeroplane is destined to become a constantly increasing factor in our economic problems is clearly shown by an article appearing in "Flying," from which we quote in part:

"After five years of continuous efforts on the part of the post office department, a few congressmen and senators, the Aero club of America, and affiliated aero clubs, and others, the first step towards employing aeroplanes for mail carrying has been taken.

"On February 12th, the United States post office department issued an advertisement inviting proposals for carrying "the mails of the United States by aeroplane."

There are eight routes in the official announcement, one in Massachusetts, between Nantucket and New Bedford, and seven in Alaska.

The time for these bids to be in expired May 12. If the post office is successful in getting bids for these eight routes, then next year there may be added between fifty and one hundred other routes, where only the aeroplane can solve the difficult problems of mail transportation, by cutting across canyons, mountains, and other natural constructions, which make it necessary, at the present time, to make long detours, to say nothing of the tremendous loss in time. In some cases,the areoplane accomplishes in fifteen or twenty minutes what now takes all the way from eighteen hours to fifteen days, by the present method of slow transportation.

The flying machine promises to be one of the most potential factors in the future development of Alaska—and of all places where the run of commerce is slow on account of lack of fast transportation. It needs neither roads nor rails nor bridges, only landing places at convenient intervals.

KEEP UP SHEEP DIPPING.

Danger of Scab Disease Not Entirely Obliterated.

Sheep owners should continue for some years to come to dip their flocks at least once a year as a precaution against sheep scab, according to specialists in the department of agriculture. During the past 10 years systematic efforts to eradicate this disease have been so successful that there is a tendency on the part of many flock masters to believe that all danger of loss from this cause is at end. This, however, in the opinion of the department of agriculture, is not the case. It is true that the economic losses from the disease at the present time are insignificant, but scab has not been completely eradicated, and it is necessary for the protection of the industry that dipping be continued for some time to come.

Mrs. John Price and Mrs. Charles McNeal left this morning for St. Joseph where they will attend the matinee of "The Birth of a Nation."

What the Engineers are Doing

THIRTY thousand American engineers are making a card index survey of American industry so that it may be prepared for its vital part in defending the Country, if need comes. The past eighteen months have taught us here in America what lack of industrial preparedness has meant to some of the countries now at war. These nations had the ships and they had the men; but when the hour struck, their factories were not able to furnish the colors with arms and shells and powder. Their factories were not prepared. And our factories are not prepared.

But it is not enough to draw a moral. In the United States five great Engineering Societies — Civil, Mining, Mechanical, Electrical and Chemical — have pledged their services to the Government of the United States, and are already working hand in hand with the Government to prepare industry for the national defense. They receive no pay and will accept no pay. All they seek is opportunity to serve their country, that she may have her industries mobilized for defense.

All elements of the nation's life — the manufacturers, the business men, and the workingmen — should support this patriotic and democratic work of the engineers, and assist them cheerfully when asked. There can be no better national insurance against war.

The Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, representing all advertising interests have offered their free and hearty service to the President of the United States, in close co-operation with these five Engineering Societies, to the end that the Country may know what the Engineers are doing. The President has accepted the offer. The Engineers have welcomed the co-operation.

This advertisement, published without cost to the United States, is the first in a nation-wide series to call the country to the duty of co-operating promptly and fully with the Engineers.

a statue to the memory of this noted soldier and statesman. The Missourian says: "It has been a little over seventy years since Colonel Doniphan led 1,000 soldiers into Mexico, settled an Indian uprising, crossed two deserts, defeated two armies that outnumbered his own four to one, captured the entrenched city of Chihuahua, lost four men killed and fourteen wounded in a year's campaign that covered 6,000 miles, and returned home with 17 of the enemy's cannons and 100 of their battle flags."

Prof. Phillip Olsson, of Albany, has a violin of interesting history, says the Albany Capital. When Olsson was a boy twelve years old, an old fellow, in a moving wagon, camped one night near his father's home, at Assaria, Kan. He played a battered old violin that looked good to Olsson and when he offered to sell it for a ten-dollar bill, he borrowed the money from his father and bought it. Recently he sent the instrument to a Chicago expert to be repaired and before returning it, the Chicago man offered $500 for it, but Prof. Olsson has decided to keep it.

A farmer near Burlington Junction has just finished an interesting experiment in farm book-keeping, and the Post publishes the result. Accurate account was kept of the cost of feeding six mules for one year, and it was found to be $432 or $72 for each mule.

W. S. Schuyler, a Savannah man, who has patented a number of auto attachments, including the dirigible light, has recently secured a patent for an attachment for Ford cars, which he says removes two-thirds of the noise and strengthens the running board so that four men can stand on it without making it sag.

For the first time in the history of Holt county, says the Oregon Sentinel the assessed wealth of the county has passed the ten million mark, being in exact figures, $10,040,000. Attention is also called to the recent action of the county court in making a levy of 20 cents on every $100 valuation for road work. The levy for this purpose heretofore has never exceeded 10 cents The increase was unanimously requested by the road overseers of Holt county at a recent meeting.

The Liberty Advance announces that is has been decided to call a special election in Clay county for June 24, at which time the people will be given a chance to vote a bond issue of $1,250,000 for the construction of a rock road system covering 199 miles.

PARCEL POST GROWTH GOES ON

Special Inquiry Explodes "Knocks" on Government Service as a Carrier of Books.

Reports to the Postmaster General indicate that the parcel post is now carrying 100,000,000 parcels a month. This facility, developed from an impotent infancy under the Wilson Administration, has become the most gigantic and useful express system the world has ever seen.

An inquiry into the efficiency of the parcel post as a carrier of books has just been completed by the postal authorities. It is found that the parcel service is used on an enormous scale by the principal New York book dealers and publishers and that the percentage of damaged shipments is very small.

HEN 29 YEARS OLD LAYS EGG.

Spanish Annie Breaks All Records, Delighting Her Owner.

Hartford.—Spanish Annie, the grand old hen of twenty-nine years (duly authenticated), owned by Colonel James Blanchard of Dayville, is quite content to die because recently she performed what is probably her last labor in this world, something beyond "all the king's horses and all the king's men," for she laid a nice brown egg.

Spanish Annie, called because she is of the black Spanish variety, hasn't laid an egg in years. However, within a year she got her name in the newspapers and her picture in many of them when she hatched out a fine brood of chickens and was hailed as the world's champion Biddy.

Colonel Blanchard, who is proud of his famous hen, has discovered from his poultry records that Spanish Annie was hatched July 4, 1887, and for years contributed generously to the Blanchard daily egg supply. Some years ago her shiny jet black feathers began turning white and her eggs were fewer. Then she lost her quick, dashing gait, and at present her feathers are a mottled gray.

Spanish Annie made no particular commotion after laying her egg, but her happy owner arranged a special feed for her.

PEARL 5,000,000 YEARS OLD.

Found on the Seacoast and Sent to Stanford University.

Stanford University, California.—A pearl estimated to have been formed 5,000,000 years ago and to be the oldest specimen of its kind in the world was found by Stanley C. Herold, a Stanford student, six months ago. The pearl will be presented to the Stanford museum.

The pearl and the cockleshell in which it was imbedded came to Stanford in a consignment of geologic material from the coast of the state of Washington.

According to university authorities, the pearl is of little value as a gem, but the oyster in which it was found originated, they said, probably in the paleozoic period.

"We have no record," said Herold, "of pearls having been formed before the time this one was created. It retains considerable luster and when thoroughly polished will regain more, but its 5,000,000 years of existence has taken out about 50 per cent of its luster.

"At the time this pearl was made the dinosaur, mastodon and sabre toothed tiger were in existence."

ROBINS ACCEPT HUMAN AID.

Man Replaces Fallen Nest and Birds Occupy It.

Seattle, Wash.—"I had always understood," said Crawford E. White, the attorney, who lives at 4203 Mead street, "that birds would invariably abandon a nest which had been disturbed by human hands.

"Something that happened in my yard the other day is a distinct exception to this rule. Two robins had a nest in the branches of a cedar tree. The cross limb which held up the nest fell away and let it down on the ground.

"I thought that would be the end of that nest. But the two birds stayed near it all the next day, and finally I got the idea of rebuilding it. I took a foot ladder and fastened the nest back securely in place with some ordinary hay baling wire.

"The robins apparently liked the rough job I made of it, for they came back and have been working together rebuilding the old nest."
